DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claims contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. In this case, the specification and claims discuss or recite chambered and chamfered interchangeably. It is considered that those terms are not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention because it is considered unclear how each term is intended to be used for patent protection.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 1 recites chambered parts which is considered indefinite because it is unclear from the specification how that term is to be defined within the claim. Claim 2 recites chamfered which lacks a positive antecedent basis and is also considered indefinite because of its unclear definition from the specification.

Art Unit: 3749

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Torborg et al. (US 5,555,647). Torborg is considered to disclose the claimed invention including a motor shaft structure 30 in a clothes dryer including a drying drum 22 rotatably mounted in a body 16, a motor bracket 36 fixed to a bottom of an inside of the body, a motor 24 mounted on the motor bracket for generating a rotating power, and a fan 46 coupled to the motor with a shaft 34, the motor shaft comprising chambered parts 35 wherein the disclosed annular groove is considered patentably equivalent to the claimed chambered parts based on the broadest reasonable interpretation from the definitions discussed in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3749

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148

USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Torborg in view of Baker (US 5,203,093). Torborg is considered to disclose the claimed invention, as discussed above under the anticipatory rejection, except for the claimed chamfered parts in the motor shaft having D-cut forms. Baker is considered to disclose chamfered parts in the motor shaft having D-cut forms at column 3 lines 16-40 wherein the disclosed cradle acts to perform the patentable function of the claimed d-cut. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to combine the teachings of Torborg with the considered teachings found in Baker for the purpose of providing a better maintenance feature for clothes dryer shaft assemblies.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. References A and D, cited in this action, are considered to teach clothes dryer shaft structures.
